Grant

Character Profile

Grant is a native of Dragonache Island. Unlike the other natives who have lost their connection with piñatas, Grant has a passion for studying and observing piñatas, keeping his notes on them in his own journal. Many of his fellow islanders are dismissive of Grant's passions, and this does occasionally get to him, but his open-mindedness makes him more willing to put the past behind him, meaning he forms the vital bridge between the player and the natives as the story progresses.

Notes

- Compared to Leafos who writes a lot about personalities, Grant takes on a more research/observation based method of writing journal entries and uses more "scientific" language.
